

From: Colin Chicoine
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/27/02 3:32pm
Subject: Re: Applelinks - The MACINTOSH Portal!

I will excuse my self for my english witting skills.

I would like to take this moment to ask the US justice department to break apart MICROSOFT as much as you legally can so no one software company can ever regain control of the market. I as a consumer do not like to be told what to buy. but for the last 10 years the only operation system available to the home market was Microsoft windows. Just recently are we seeing other operating systems more available to the public thanks to the publicised Microsoft anti trust case. New applications for the "other" operating systems are making there way to the market but still Microsoft buys off bright ideas and keeps them exclusif for the Microsoft Operating system. Take for example Halo from Bungie Software. This was and is a revolutionary action game that was developed for Apple Macintosh computers. This was going to give a tremendous boost to the Macintosh operating system. But not to long ago Microsoft bought off Bungie. Now with no guarantees for a Macintosh release I just pray! I also would like to mention that Microsoft should be forced to follow the internet, video, mp3 standards and ban Microsoft the development of such new standards without the aprouval of the software developping community.

Make Microsoft pay for there abusive practices because if you don't they will be stronger.

Colin Chicoine
Canada, Québec